

Core to the mission of the Right Here Showcase is to highlight and celebrate mid-career Minnesota-based performing artists who create original performance work.

ARTIST ELIGIBILITY ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must:

- be at least 30 years of age on or by April 28th, 2017
- be a US citizen and current resident of Minnesota
- have lived in Minnesota continuously since 2010
- have been working professionally in performing arts fields for at least 8 years
- have already created a body of original work for public performance, and/or can demonstrate a strong engagement with developing a singular artistic voice.
- be “under recognized”, meaning they cannot have been featured in a national tour or by international presenters, be recipients of major national fellowships or awards, and are not well known locally by the broader public.

Artists who also lead their own companies must apply as an individual artist.

RHS defines “original contemporary performance work” as works that travel between the fields of experimental Theatre & Dance, Video Art, Visual Art, Music Composition and Performance Art, without adhering to any one single field’s practice.

Likewise, the projects artists propose need to adhere to the definition above.

Incomplete applications, and applications received after midnight August 1st cannot be considered.
